Farmers, Planters, and cord wainers

The first male Everett recorded in South Carolina was Archibald Everett who is recorded in South Carolina in 1713-1715. His exact location in South Carolina is unknown.

There are no Everetts (or Averetts) listed in the South Carolina tax lists for 1733-1742 that exist today.

Beginning in 1744, Everetts were recorded in the interior of South Carolina near the area which is now Columbia, the state capital. This area has been labeled, Craven County, Camden District of Craven County, Richland County of the Camden District, the Richland District and now is Richland County. In addition it was identified by the Anglican Parish names of Saint James Santee Parish, Prince George Parish, Prince Frederick Parish, and Saint Marks Parish. In the biographies of individuals, I have tried to label the area as it would have been at that particular time. In this summary, it is referred to as Richland Co which is the present designation.

Based on available information, I think that the Everetts of Richland Co SC became the Averetts in Hancock Co and Warren Co GA. "The History of Georgia and Its People" , <http://www.archive.org/details/storyofgeorgiage00smituoft> , states that many of the early Georgia settlers from South Carolina would finish the harvest season in South Carolina then go to Georgia to work on new land they had purchased or were granted. When the growing season began, they would return to South Carolina to grow another crop. It might take several years before the Georgia location was ready for them to move their families from SC to GA. Thus, they might appear in tax and census records in SC at the same time they appeared in tax lists in Georgia.

Therefore it is possible that some Averetts/Everetts purchased land in Georgia prior to 1790, lived in Richland Co SC in 1790, and moved to Georgia shortly after the 1790 census. The William Averett who lived in Warren Co GA in 1810 still owned land in Richland Co SC.

Benjamin

Benjamin Everett #1 is the first Everett recorded in the Camden/Richland area. He helped to appraise an estate in 1744 and in 1755 applied for a land grant stating that he was married and had one child. This is probably the Benjamin Everett whose will was recorded in Richland Co in 1791. Benjamin #2, William #1, and Richard Everett were executors. James Everett is the only son mentioned in the will.

In the 1790 Richland Co census, the only Benjamin is a Benjamin John Everett. Was this Benjamin #1 or Benjamin #2? Why weren't both listed?

Benjamin #2 is probably the Benjamin Averett/Everett that later lived in Hancock and Warren Counties in Georgia. In 1810, Benjamin Averett #2 was asked by William Averett of Warren Co GA to go back to Richland Co and sell some land for him and his wife Judith.

Richard

There were 2 Richard Everetts in early SC. A Richard Everitt first appears in 1784 records for Richland Co. There are also several other records for Richard Everitt. Don't know which one is #1 and which is #2.

There are 2 Richard Everitts in the 1790 Richland Co census. Richard #1 is single with no children and 20 slaves. No other Everitts were living near this Richard. Richard #2 is married with children and 4 slaves. A William Everitt was enumerated directly before Richard.

One Richard died in 1791. Based on the estate appraisal, Richard #2 married with 4 slaves died in 1791. Benjamin, William, and John Everett were given letters of administration as administrators since they were the nearest of kin. Their relationship to Richard#2 is unknown.

There was a Richard Everett still living in 1820 in SC. This was probably Richard #1.

John

There was a John, a John Albright, a Benjamin John, an Albright, and a Bright/Brite Everett/Everit/Everitt/Averett.

ASSUMPTIONS: It is presently assumed that John and John Albright are the same person; Benjamin John is either Benjamin #1 or Benjamin #2; and Albright, Brite, Bright are the same person.

John first appears in Richland Co records in 1762 and as John Albright in 1768. He appears in the records until 1778 when his estate was appraised. His name is sometimes listed as Averett. He was a cord wainer which means he was a maker of shoes and other goods from fine soft leather.

A John Everett was one of the executors of the estate of Richard Everett#2 in Richland Co SC in 1791.

One of the sources for the records of John Averett of Hancock Co GA lists his name as John A Averett. This John Averett died about 1810 in Hancock Co.

There is also a Revolutionary War record for a John Everett. This is probably John Albright.

Albright, Brite, Bright

Albright (#1) Everett first appears in the records in 1778 around the time of the death of John Albright Everett. His birth would therefore be 1760 or before. He was usually referred to as Brite or Bright.

There was an Albright Averett who died in Hancock Co GA about 1801. At first glance, one could guess that this was probably the Albright #1 who first appeared in 1778 in SC.

However The Louisville Gazette at the time said that the Albright Averett who died about 1801 was the son of William Averett of Warren Co GA. Louisville was the state capitol of GA and the Gazette was considered the state newspaper. This would mean that William would have to be at least 15 years older than Albright to be his father which would put his birth as 1745 or before. There is no William Everett/Averett identified in SC until 1788. So it considered likely that the Albright who died in Hancock Co in 1801 would be Albright #2.

Albright #3 was born about 1790. The 1850 census lists his birth as SC. I have concluded that his father was probably Archibald Averett who lived in Warren Co then Hancock Co GA for several reasons. However given the movements of the Averetts/Everetts between SC and GA, Albright #3's birth could be either Georgia or South Carolina.

William

There are at least 3 or 4 William Everetts who lived in SC in the late 1700s. Three are in the records for the Richland Co Camden District and one is in the records for the Orangeburg District.

The first record of a William Everett in SC is in the Orangeburg District in 1778. This William Everett is labeled as #1. William Everett #1 died in Winton Co, Orangeburg District, SC in 1788. His sons were Thomas, and John M who was under 21, and his wife was Nancy. Four daughters were listed in his will DNA testing by Family Tree DNA has identified this line as connected to Nathaniel Everett line. Most of Nathaniel's descendants moved from North Carolina to Georgia without settling in South Carolina.

In the 1790 census for the Orangeburg District, there is an Ann Everett who is the head of a household but no Nancy. Was she Nancy Anne? See Thomas Everett.

No other William Everetts have been identified in Richland Co SC until the 1790 census where there are 2 William Everetts, #2 and #3.

#2 William Everit: males 1 >16, 2<16; 2 females; 1 slave. Enumerated next was Benjamin John Everit with 4 males >16; no females; 12 slaves.

#3 William Everit: males 1>16, 1<16; 3 females; 5 slaves. Benjamin John Everett was enumerated next to this William.

There was a William Averett Sr and a William Jr who lived in Warren Co GA in the early 1800s. William Averett Sr owned land in Richland Co SC and he is identified in one source as the father of the Albright Averett who died in Hancock Co GA in 1800.

It is unknown if William Averett Sr or Jr are either #2 or #3 William Everett in the 1790 Richland Co SC but it is considered likely. #2 William, #3 William, and William Sr were slave owners. Nothing specific is known about William Jr other than he purchased items at the estate sale of Albrite Everett in 1801 in Hancock Co GA.

Thomas

William #1 who dies in the Orangeburg District in 1788 had a son named Thomas who is labeled as Thomas #1.

There was a Thomas Everett from South Carolina who served in the Revolution. Perhaps this was Thomas #1.

Thomas Everett probably #1 died about 1805 in the Orangeburg District without a will. His estate records identify children as William, John, Benjamin, Alexander Benjamin, Mary, Rebecca, and Elizabeth. No wife is mentioned.

Ann Everett, a widow of Thomas Everett, was re-married by 1808 to John Stallings

These facts could all belong to the same Thomas Everett.

SUMMARY:

1788 William Everett #1 died in Orangeburg Co SC. sons: Thomas and John M.

1790 Richland Co SC census: 2 Richards, 2 Williams (#2 and #3), 1 Albright, 1 Benjamin John.

1790 Orangeburg Distr SC census: Ann

1791 Richland Co SC events: not sure of correct order:

Estate of Richard #2 : William (#2, #3, Sr, or Jr ?), Benjamin, and John (?) were executors since they were the closest kin.

South Carolina Everetts in the Revolution

Elijah Averett

1782 Elijah Averett served as a horseman under Capt Vardry McBee and Col Roebuck during 1782.

No other records for an Elijah Averett/Everett by any spelling have been found for SC or GA.

John Averitt

1777 July 1 - John Averitt enlisted in the Third Regiment.

Could be John Albright Averett/Everett?

Thomas Everett

No details available

The will of William Everett who died in 1788 in the Orangeburg District identifies a son named Thomas.

No other records for a Thomas Averett/Everett have been identified in SC records. However than was an Ann Everett, widow of a Thomas Everett, who had married John Stalings by 1808. There was a Ann Everett who was head of a household in 1790 in the Orangeburg District of SC so Thomas probably dies before 1790.

- Did John Averett, son of John Albright Everett, move to Georgia in 1769 after his father sold the family farm in SC in 1768? Possibly
- Are John Albright Everett and John Averett related at all? Probably but no documentation found.
- 1777 June 15 &16 Capt Richd Brown to Major Samuel Wise, both of Craven County, planters, for L3500 SC money, 500 acres in Craven County on north east side on the Congaree River on Cedar Creek adj. land granted to Benj. Notes for William Averett Sr.:

BIRTH: One source [218] says that William Averett Sr was the father of the Albright Averett who died in Hancock Co GA in 1800. If this Albright Averett is the Albright Everatt who lived in Richland Co SC, he would have to have been born bef 1745 since Albright starts appearing in records in 1778. Question: Why wasn't there a William Everatt in Richland Co before the 1790 census? Maybe he wasn't a land owner at that time but had some occupation in Columbia or Albright moved to South Carolina before his father William moved there.

William Averett of 1819 Warren Co GA owned land on Spears Creek in Richland Co SC.[242] It is unknown if he is one of the William Everitt's in the 1790 Richland Co SC census.

Some of the early settlers of Georgia were from South Carolina. After their crops were made in South Carolina, they would come to Georgia, clear land, and built shelters until they were ready to move their families to Georgia. [285]

- 1787 Wm Averett received a land grant in Wilkes Co GA.[285]

It is evident by the estate sale of Albright Averett that there was a William Sr and a William Jr. It has not been established which of the previous or following records apply to William Sr and which apply to William Jr. At the estate sale of Joh Averett in 1811, there was only one William Averett with no Sr or Jr listed.

- one of the tracts containing 600 and 28 acres deeded by the said E Thomas to me on the 20th of January 1806

Early South Carolina 1682-1800

It is very difficult to perform research for early South Carolina without understanding counties, districts, and parishes. The Everetts/Averetts of early South Carolina were primarily located in two districts: Camden District and Richland County, and the Orangeburg District and Winton County and Barwell Counties. Below is a summary of divisional boundaries as given at <http://www.familyhistory101.com/maps/sc.cf.html>

General

- 1682 Original 3 proprietary counties of SC were formed along the Atlantic coast. From northeast to southwest, they were Craven, Berkely, and Colleton.
- 1685 Carteret Co was formed along the coast as the most southern county.
- 1706 Most of the area known as South Carolina was divided into 10 parishes of the Anglican Church.
- 1731 Prior to this time, all geographical named areas were along the coast. In 1731, townships were established in the interior of the state.
- In 1733, several county lines were extended into the interior with no interior boundaries. This included Craven and Granville Counties.
- In 1768 as more of the inland region was settled, the citizens of South Carolina decided that they needed a more centrally located capitol instead of Charlestown. So they purchased land in the center of the state and created the town of Columbia which is still the state capitol.
- 1769 All of the named area of South Carolina was divided into seven Judicial Districts. They were Camden, Beaufort, Charleston, Cheraws, Georgetown, Ninety-six, and Orangeburg. The previous county divisions were dissolved.
- 1785 Thirty-four counties were formed within the existing 7 judicial districts. 14 of these counties never became functional in the coastal districts of Beaufort, Charleston, and Georgetown. The parishes continued to be functional in these 3 districts.
- 1791 several new districts were formed and some counties were dissolved.
- 1798 legislation was passed to change the inland counties into districts and the old districts to be dissolved. Also the south western part of the Orangeburg District next to the Savannah River was to become the Barnwell District. All of this was to become effective in 1800.
- 1800 the planned actions took effect.
- 1868 the existing districts were redesignated as counties.

Camden District and Richland County

- 1682 Craven Co was one of the original 3 proprietary counties of SC.
- 1706 the southern part of Craven Co became part of Saint James Santee Parish. The north eastern part was not included in a parish.
- In 1722 Prince George Parish was formed to include the north eastern part of Craven Co and the previously unidentified coastal area all the way to the North Carolina line.
- In 1734, the area of Craven County which would later be the Camden District was included as part of the newly formed Prince Frederick Parish.
- In 1757, the part of Craven County which would later become the Camden District was included in the newly formed St Mark's Parish which was formed from Prince Frederick Parish.
- 1768 the city of Columbia was created in Craven County.
- 1769 the area of St Mark's Parish became the Camden District.
- 1785 Richland Co was one of the 34 original counties. It was in the Camden District and is the county for Columbia, the state capitol
- 1800 Richland County in the Camden District became the Richland District.
- 1868 Richland District became Richland County

Orangeburg District and Winton and Barnwell Counties.

- 1685 Carteret Co was formed along the coast as the most southern county. It is bordered on the southwest by the Savannah River and Georgia.

- 1706 Carteret County was not included in a parish when parishes were formed.
- 1708 Carteret County was changed to Granville County.
- 1712 St Helena Parish was established to cover all of Granville County.
- 1745 part of the St Helena Parish in Granville County was taken to form Prince William Parish and Prince William Parish was extended further inland.
- 1747 the part of Prince William Parish along the Savannah River was taken to form St Peter's Parish.
- 1769 Orangeburg District was formed as an inland district along the Savannah River and was northwest of the coastal Beaufort and Charleston Districts.
- 1785 Winton and Orange were two of the four counties created in the Orangeburg District. Winton was along the coast and bordered on the northeast by Orange County. The other two counties in the district were Lewis and Lexington.
- 1791 the counties within the Orangeburg District were de-organized. As a result, the Orangeburg District was no longer divided into counties.
- 1800 the Orangeburg District became the Orangeburg and Barnwell Districts with Barnwell being along the Savannah River and Orangeburg being to its northeast.
- 1868 The Orangeburg District and the Barnwell District were redesignated as Orangeburg County and Barnwell County.
